BIOLOGIC Research

Are you looking for new opportunities to expand your product line and stay ahead of the competition? Look no further than BIOLOGIC Pharmamedical!

As a leading research and development company, BIOLOGIC specializes in manufacturing consumer therapeutics and performance-enhancing products utilizing patented technologies from Cavaleri Health Inc. Our research services include drug and nutraceutical discovery research on proteomic and genomic targets, research and development of novel therapeutics and medicines, and management of a related portfolio of patented ingredients to manufacture finished therapies by contract.

With over 40 years of experience in the nutraceutical industry, BIOLOGIC is a reliable and committed partner in the natural health industry wedded to allopathic pharmaceutical research protocols to validate and optimise these natural therapies. Our ongoing pharmaceutical research using nutraceutical fractions in our laboratories on existing and new technologies continues to evolve and add data to the marketing message for each technology you commit to. We simply continue to add new value and refresh science for your brand to leverage on an ongoing basis.

Moreover, much of our research is published in the public medical sciences literature for scientific referencing by brands and other researchers, ensuring that your products have the scientific backing they need to stand out in the marketplace. Additionally, these novel research discoveries set the stage for patent status to protect your new inflection point in the chosen category.

Partner with BIOLOGIC Pharmamedical today and gain access to cutting-edge technologies with a trend-setting narrative supported by real science and an ongoing research program that will take your brand to the next level!
